Schedule: 3 hours per week (4 class sessions at 45 minutes = 180 minutes, or 3 hours)

Instructor: TBD

Required textbook

Integrated Chinese, Level 1, Part 1, chapters 6-10; 3rd ed. (simplified character edition)

Textbook, Workbook, and Character Workbook.

Authors: Liu / Yao / Bi / Ge / Shi. Publisher: Cheng & Tsui Co.

Course Description

In this course, on the basis of the systematic introduction of Chinese 101, students will study Lessons 6 through 10 of Integrated Chinese Level 1 Part 1. The course continues to expand the student's vocabulary and grammatical knowledge in order to increase their proficiency in listening comprehension, reading, speaking and writing. Students will deepen their understanding of daily life, particularly school life and culture, including: Making appointments, talking about studying Chinese, school life, shopping and transportation.

Outcomes:

Students will enrich their grammatical knowledge and enlarge their vocabulary, gaining approximately 300 new expressions and phrases, which enables them use their acquired vocabulary to communicate in different contexts including at school/university, when shopping, and when arranging and taking transportation.

Expectations

Success in your classes will depend on your commitment to regular review and practice. TBC has a language tutor program (available free of charge) and you are strongly encouraged to make regular appointments with your assigned language tutor, to review vocabulary and practice writing and reading. You should expect to spend no less than an additional 6 hours per week on revision and practice.

Attendance

Attendance is mandatory and will count towards the final grade. Absences will be calculated as follows:

- 0.25% of students' final grade will be deducted for lateness (more than 10 minutes late) to each 1-hour session of classes.
- 0.5% of one's final grades will be deducted for unauthorised absence to each 1-hour session of classes.
- Medical absence: students with illness must present a medical certificate to be excused from absences. As far as possible, it is courteous to advise your instructor in advance if you will be missing class due to illness.
